Derwent Abstract:

(JP08073338A) Dermatological prepn. comprises at least one diphosphate complex of retinol with a water soluble vitamin of formula (I), dipyrophosphate complex of retinol with a water soluble vitamin of formula (II), and disulphate complex of retinol with a water soluble vitamin of formula (III). X = a residue of water soluble vitamin (pref. thiamine, riboflavin, 1-beta-D-ribofuranosyl nicotinamide, 1-beta-D-ribofuranosyl nicotinic acid, pyridoxal, pyridoxine, pyridoxamine, pantothenic acid or ascorbic acid).

Use - The prepn. is useful for the treatment of hyperkeratosis and prevention of wrinkles.

Advantage - (I), (II) and (III) are safe and stable in water-soluble base materials. When applied on the skin, the cpds. are decomposed by esterase and the released retinol and water soluble vitamins exhibit synergistic actions.
